

The background image shows a sunny day in a village. In the foreground, a large, weathered stone cross stands on a raised stone base. Behind it, there are several houses: one with a curved grey facade, another with a brick upper floor and stone lower floor, and a third with a tiled roof. A white van and a white pickup truck are parked on the street. In the distance, there are green hills and a large, rocky mountain under a clear blue sky.
